

Trojans tame Mac-Hi tournament

The Homedale High School wrestling team had its home debut with Emmett snowed out Monday night, but that just gave the Trojans a little more time to savor the glory they attained during the weekend.

Coach Toby Johnson's charges edged Madras, Ore., 263 to 245.5, to win the team championship of the Mac-Hi Christmas Tournament in Milton-Freewater, Ore.

The narrow victory over Madras was especially sweet for Johnson, who used to live in Milton-Freewater.

"Madras gave us a run for the money," Johnson said. "They had several decent kids at a wide variety of weight classes."

Several Madras wrestlers qualified for the finals, which kept the score close. In fact, Homedale was ahead by only 5.5 points heading into the championship action.

But Bryan Martinat capped a 3-0 tournament with a championship at 152 pounds to ignite a flurry Trojans titles.

Tyler Maxwell (160), Ricco Gonzalez (171) and Josh Jolley (215) also posted 3-0 records as Homedale brought home championships in four of the final six weight classes contested.

That run sewed up the team championship for the Trojans.

"The boys did a great job," Johnson said. "They were classy and represented their school very well."

Jeremy Ensley went 2-0 in the 119-pound class to run his career record to 101-3. He has now won 101 consecutive matches.

Frankie Obregon, a 125-pounder, was 2-0 to win a title, too. He beat freshman teammate Danny Zenor (2-1) in the title match.

Only four Homedale wrestlers failed to place in the Mac-Hi tourney.

Stuart Miyasako (130, 2-1), Joe Mac Hernandez (135, 1-1) and Amador Cortinas (275, 2-1) were runners-up in their respective divisions.

Trevor Meligan finished third at 103 with a 1-1 record. Tyler Christoffersen was third at 145

Grizzlies bite Homedale

You've heard of the triangle offense made famous by the Chicago Bulls of the Michael Jordan era? It was a triangle defense of sorts that sent Homedale High School to its first conference girls basketball defeat on Dec. 13.

And the defense had very little to do with the effort of the Fruitland players, the 34-26 victors on the Trojans' floor.

"We stopped looking for opportunities to score and I subbed and we had turnovers in a run that ate up our lead," Homedale coach Mike Greeley said.

"We had two turnovers in 25 seconds."

Those turnovers and overall complacency on offense — two sides of that triangle — resulted in a two-point second quarter for Homedale as the Grizzlies grabbed a narrow 12-11 halftime lead.

More damaging was a four-point third quarter that started out promising with Cheyanne Andrade's fall-away jump shot and a bank shot by Hailey Hall for a 15-14 Homedale lead less than 2 minutes into the second half.

But the Trojans' offense went dark for more than eight minutes after Hall scored her only points of the game, and Fruitland took command with 16 unanswered points.

"We just had a flat third quarter," said Greeley, whose team lost for the eighth time in 11 games. "We're not a third-quarter team, and that hurts us."

The Grizzlies capped their 16-0 outburst for a 30-15 lead on a play that epitomized the Trojans' woes.

Raquel Rode scored her only basket of the game on Fruitland's third shot opportunity of the possession 90 seconds into the fourth quarter. Rode rebounded a missed shot by Stephanie Hutchinson, who had fired a mid-range jumper from the left side of the court then hustled across the key — and past potential Homedale rebounders — to gobble up her own rebound and take another unsuccessful shot.

Homedale pulled back within eight points at 34-26 with 1:06 left on Andrade's two free throws, but Fruitland was given too many second chances.

"Nobody wanted to make the effort to go after the rebound," Greeley said of a late exchange under the Fruitland basket that really summed up the evening for the Trojans.

That third part of the triangle — a lack of intensity — allowed Fruitland, which ran its SRV record to 3-0, to hold a 16-6 edge on the Trojans' backboards.

Destinee Abston had six rebounds in the second half to hold the Trojans down. She led Fruitland with 14 points.

"In a tight game, a couple rebounds make a world of difference," said Greeley, whose

Rimrock girls defeat Melba, remain perfect

Melanie Simper averaged 9.5 points and 8.8 rebounds per game between Dec. 12 and Saturday as Rimrock High School's girls basketball team continued to barrel through the 1A Western Idaho Conference season.

Playing a busy schedule, the Raiders (9-0 overall, 5-0 1A WIC at the end of the week) won four games in six days, including an impressive non-conference victory over 2A Melba on the road Saturday night.

Rimrock 46, Melba 38

The Raiders broke open a tie game in the fourth quarter, pulling away from the Mustangs with a 17-9 streak.

Emily Chandler drilled two of the Raiders' seven 3-point goals to score a game-high 18 points. Alex Thomas added 13 points and two more treys.

The Raiders lost a three-point lead in the third quarter, but rebounded in the fourth. Shannon Hipwell gave Rimrock several second-chance shots with her eight offensive rebounds. She finished with 11 boards for the game. For the week, Hipwell collected 21 offensive rebounds and averaged 7.5 boards per game.

Kaeloni Roberson added 10 points for the Raiders, while Britney Johnson scored 11 for Old habits send Marsing boys down

Just when it looked like the Marsing High School boys basketball team was poised to leave early-season mistakes behind and begin soaring, the Huskies were penned up by Council on Thursday.

Marsing entered the non-conference matchup with a three-game winning streak and the championship plaque from the Pine Eagle Tournament. But the 1A Lumberjacks chopped that momentum to the ground with a 53-48 victory. "I was hoping we did make a breakthrough and we would keep on rolling," Marsing coach Brian Thompson said. "But I'd much rather lose now than later in the season."

A familiar bugaboo haunted the Huskies against Council, a perennial state tournament team.

"We had too many turnovers," Thompson said. "We need to learn how to take care of the ball better."

Marsing turned the ball over five times in the first quarter as Josh Edmunson grabbed one of his team-high five steals and Council built a 16-8 lead it never would relinquish.

The Huskies cut the Lumberjacks' advantage to three points, 30-27, on Brian Smith's 3-point goal at the end

Rimrock eighth-graders roll

The Rimrock Junior High School eighth-grade girls basketball team might be giving Rimrock High School coach Bob Delle pause about his retirement plans.

Rimrock's eighth-graders recently wrapped up an unbeaten 14-0 record with a district tournament championship. Rimrock also won the Glens Ferry Tournament title.

Rimrock used defense to hold down its opponents, averaging 21 steals a game and limiting 12 of its 14 foes to 20 points or fewer.

Bob Murray coached the team that averaged more than 37 points and 26 rebounds per game.

The team included Torrie David, Anna Cantrell, Jackie Thurman, Shoni Gennette, Stevie Richardson, Janice Ontiverous, Chalea Garcia, Randie Denton, Shaelyn Merrick and Jessica Modesto.

The Rimrock seventh-graders, coached by Will Goodman, posted an 8-4 record. That team included Sarah Chandler, Tasha Belings, Brittney Meyers, Brittany Rahier, Daisy Mondragon, Lyndie Gillespie, Tammie Knapke, Laura Smith, Chelsea Cole and Yvonne Elizarraz.

More of the same

Rimrock Junior High School eighth-grade basketball coach Bob Murray, top row, far left, has reason to smile after his team posted a 14-0 record and a district championship. Rimrock has had a strong girls basketball program for years, as evidenced by high school coach Bob Delle and his unbeaten Raiders. Delle has said this will be his last year as high school coach, but with the seventh- and eighth-graders winning 22 of 26 games this year, things may change. Submitted photo

Hall's fast start carries Trojans

A balanced scoring effort propelled Homedale High School to a 53-33 victory over McCall-Donnelly on Dec. 9 in the 3A Snake River Valley conference girls basketball opener for both.

Hailey Hall drained a 3-point goal and scored nine of her 10 points in the first quarter to get the Trojans off on the right foot. Hall didn't score a basket after halftime.

Homedale poured it on in the second quarter to take a 32-14 halftime lead. The Trojans' dominance was helped by crisp ball handling. Homedale had just eight turnovers in the first 16 minutes.

Jordan Warwick nailed two 3-pointers in the second quarter. She finished with eight points.

Sarah Cline also cashed in a pair of treys and scored eight points.

The Trojans led 47-20 after three quarters on the strength of five 3-pointers and a defense that held the Vandals to single-digit scoring in each of the first three quarters.

New Plymouth 47, Homedale 31

Hall was perfect from the foul line in the fourth quarter, scoring eight of her team-high 12 points, but it wasn't enough to overcome the Trojans' one-point third quarter against non-conference foe New Plymouth on Dec. 10.

Hall hit one of two free throws for Homedale's only points in the third quarter on the Pilgrims' court. New Plymouth parlayed Homedale's anemic offensive showing into a 37-16 lead. The Pilgrims of the 2A Western Idaho Conference matched the Trojans' entire output for the first three quarters, pouring in 16 points in the third quarter alone. Hilary Ziegler scored four of her game-high 15 points in the period.

BreAnn Jones logged 13 points for the Pilgrims before fouling out.

Cheyenne Andrade and Jessica Mooney scored six points apiece for Homedale.

Parma 41, Homedale 39

The visiting 2A Panthers converted five of six free-throw attempts in the fourth quarter to push past the Trojans in a non-conference game.

Homedale entered the final period clinging to a 33-32 lead, but KaCee Shepherd nailed both her free throws in the final quarter, and teammate Logan Smyser was 3-for-4 from the line to help Parma pull out the slim victory.

Homedale, on the other hand, was 4-for-8 from the charity stripe in the fourth quarter. Faith Brasher collected the Trojans' only field goal in the final eight minutes. Brasher hadn't scored since the first quarter and finished with a team-high nine points.

Hailey Constantine led all scorers with 16 points for Parma. The 5-foot-7 senior connected for a pair of 3-point goals in the second quarter.

Warwick dropped in two treys in the third quarter for her six points in the game. Homedale teammate Hailey Hall was 3-for-5 from the foul line in the fourth quarter on the way to eight points.

√ Trojans

team was out-rebounded 21-19 overall.

So does foul shooting. The Trojans were afforded just one free throw in the first half — Andrade converted a three-point play as part of her team-high 11 points. In the second half, Homedale made more visits to the line, but couldn't hit the crucial throws. The Trojans were 5-for-15 from the foul line in the second half (5-for-13 in the fourth quarter).

Homedale missed four straight from the stripe in the final 19.5 seconds while trailing by eight. Wendy Tackett and Andrade had hit four consecutive foul shots as the Trojans scored seven straight points to climb back into contention.

"They were shooting bricks all night," Greeley said. "I don't think it was just in the fourth quarter. They were shooting with no arch and no follow-through."

of the first half, but Marsing was unable to overcome Council's quick start and domination on the backboards.

With 6-foot-1 senior post Chris Covey out of the lineup with a knee injury, Marsing couldn't keep up with the experience and height of the Council frontcourt.

On several occasions, the Huskies were one-and-done while in their offense, while the Lumberjacks would head to the other end of the court and enjoy second- and third-chance shots at the basket.

"Covey gives us double figures in rebounds, and we missed that," Thompson said. "He usually gives us seven to eight points."

Thompson was awaiting the report from Covey's visit with doctors before speculating on the exact injury or the severity of it.

With Covey and his aggressive style in street clothes, Council was able to clean 24 missed shots off Marsing's glass. The damage was evenly spread with Edmunson (5-9), Jesse Green (6-1), Sam McConnell (6-2) and Ben Chadwell (6-3) snagging four boards apiece. McConnell led Council's scorers with 14 points.

"That's where we missed Chris Covey," Thompson said of the dearth of Husky rebounds on their own end.

Johnathon Cossel, a 6-2 junior, filled in for Covey on the backboards. He also scored three points.

"Johnathon did step up and did a good job," Thompson said.

Shea McClellin, who led all scorers with 17 points, collected seven defensive rebounds for Marsing. But Council shot 47.8 percent (22-for-46) from the floor and came down with 10 offensive boards, so there weren't too many opportunities to begin with.

Aaron Salvas, who had seven second-half rebounds, nailed two free throws with 2 minutes, 48 seconds left in the third quarter to cap a 6-0 run and get Marsing to within a point, 43-42.

But neither team did much in the final period, combining for eight points. Council went nearly six minutes without a point, but Marsing missed four of six foul shots in the quarter, including the front end of two one-and-one opportunities.

McClellin banked in a layup with 1:50 remaining to pull the Huskies within three points at 51-48, but with 34.4 seconds left the junior lost the handle on a dribble. That allowed Council to run the clock out.

"We let them get up too much," Thompson said. "It was too much of a deficit to come back and we just ran out of gas."

Going to the hoop

Marsing junior Shea McClellin goes to the basket for two of his 17 points Thursday night against Council in a non-conference game in Marsing. Trying to defend are Lumberjacks Ben Chadwell, left, Jesse Green and Chase Hansen, right.

OOL season starts with losses for JV

by Alek Quintero, JVHS

Last Friday, after a long 6-hour bus trip, the Jordan Valley High School boys basketball team faced the Joseph Eagles in the first Old Oregon League matchup of the season for both schools.

Joseph posted a 75-36 victory. "Joseph is a very good, well-disciplined team," junior Jerry Wroten said. "Along with that, we only had seven players, and the long bus ride."

Top scorers for the Mustangs were Zac Fillmore with 10 points, followed by Alek Quintero and Koehl Troutman with eight points apiece.

The Mustangs played well the first three quarters, but Joseph's depth and the long trip caught up with the Mustangs in the fourth quarter. The Eagles suited 12 players for the game.

"We are just a young team, and Joseph is probably one of the best teams in the state," Jordan Valley coach Ted Doramus said. "We played hard, but numbers are an important thing to have against good teams, and we didn't have them."

Saturday, the Mustang boys woke up in a Cove winter church camp and went to Imbler to play their second league game. Imbler prevailed by 62 points.

High scorers for the Mustangs were Fillmore with 13 points and Trautman with six.

"This was not a good game," Doramus said. "Staying in a cold area and sitting around all day, we had no energy.

Imbler had a lot of players and continually shuffled in groups of five. We were outmatched in numbers and experience."

Next up for Jordan Valley is the Marsing Holiday Classic on Dec. 29-30.

Huskies split tough WIC week

Any basketball coach would be hard-pressed to find a silver lining after watching a team commit 29 turnovers. Marsing High School girls coach Don Heller figured out a way Saturday night.

The Huskies nearly pulled off a stunning 2A Western Idaho Conference victory in Nampa, falling short in a 41-36 loss to Nampa Christian.

"To have 29 turnovers and only lose by five shots that we have a lot of potential," Heller said. "We have no one over 5-foot-9, and Nampa Christian has six girls 5-11 or taller."

Going up against that dilemma, the MJ Usabel, a senior and one of the taller girls on the Huskies' roster, grabbed nine rebounds and led all scorers with 17 points.

But Marsing dug a hole early, falling behind 22-14 at halftime. Nampa Christian 6-footer Lindsay Forseth scored all but four of her 15 points in the first eight minutes of the game.

Heller said the loss to Nampa Christian was reminiscent of setbacks earlier in the season in which Marsing would make great defensive stops only to turn the ball over with an ill-advised pass.

Marsing racked up 14 steals — nine in the second half — as Mollie Nielsen swiped six balls from Nampa Christian ball-handlers. She also dished a team-high seven assists.

Marsing 46, Melba 42

A change in defense sparked the Huskies in a 2A WIC victory at home on Dec. 13.

Marsing trailed by as many as nine points early in the game, but clamped down with 18 steals (five from Usabel) to take a 24-23 lead at halftime.

The game was tied 33-33 after three quarters, but Nielsen was Elisa Moreno popped two 3-pointers as part of her co-team-high 10 points. She shared top honors with Usabel, who scored 10 on 4-for-14 shooting.

"Scoring was very balanced," Heller said. "Every starter had six to 10 points."

Nichole Leavitt scored on a two 3-pointers in the first quarter en route to 13 points for the Mustangs. Teammate Whitney Johnson added 12.

McClellin shines in Marsing win

Shea McClellin posted a double-double with 18 points and 12 rebounds Dec. 12 as Marsing High School's boys basketball team downed Nyssa, Ore., for its third consecutive victory.

Santiago Quebrado and Brian Smith fired in two 3-point goals each in the first half as the Huskies built a commanding lead to fuel a 60-51 non-conference win on their home floor.

Smith popped three treys for the bulk of his 12 points, while Quebrado hit two 3-pointers and was 3-for-6 from the free-throw line for nine points.

McClellin converted eight of 11 foul shots, and Troy Dines (4-for-4) and Ernie Villa (2-for-2) were perfect from the stripe as Marsing dropped in 21 of 29 free throws (72.4 percent). Meanwhile, Nyssa was 7-for-15 (46.7 percent) from the line.

The Huskies owned a 34-21

half-time lead against the Bulldogs, who had posted a 42-32 victory in Marsing's season opener on Nov. 29. McClellin missed that game with a non-basketball injury.

Tino Rios, who scored 17 points in the teams' first meeting, led three Nyssa players in double figures with 15 points. Twelve of his tally came on four 3-point goals, giving him seven for the two-game series against Marsing this season.

Josh Leos added 12 points, and Logan Skeen had a pair of treys as part of his 10 points.

Marsing JV A girls claim tourney title

Marsing High School's junior varsity girls basketball A team won the Pine Eagle Tournament championship Dec. 10 in Halfway, Ore., with a decisive victory over Irrigon, Ore.

The Huskies, coached by Jodette Lemos, scored 18 points in the second quarter en route to a 37-25 triumph in the title game.

Marsing reached the championship with a forfeit victory over tourney host Pine Eagle, which was unable to field enough players for a team.

In a game filled with fouls, Marsing converted six of 13 free throws in the second quarter as Amanda Staudenmier and Liz Mandujano scored four points each for a 27-15 halftime edge.

Staudenmier scored half of her game-high 12 points with six consecutive free throws in the first quarter to get the Huskies off to a good start. She was 6-for-8 from the foul line in the opening stanza.

Forty-four fouls were called in the game, and nearly half of Marsing's scoring before the intermission (13 points) came from the charity stripe.

CC Zanardi shook of a cold start from the field to finish with seven points, and Miranda Clausen added six for Marsing's balanced offense.

Melba 39, Marsing 15

The Huskies were outscored 20-6 after halftime and held to just one Clausen free throw each in the second and fourth quarters of a 2A Western Idaho Conference loss Dec. 13 in Marsing.

Clausen scored four of her six points in the opening quarter, which ended with the Huskies trailing 13-8 as Dusty Krivanec scored six of her game-high 12 points in the first eight minutes for the Mustangs.

Zanardi, who finished with five points, scored just one basket after the first quarter.

Haley Heiner scored all nine of her points in the first half as Melba built a 10-point lead at the break.

Trojans derailed by Pilgrims

Ryan Rupp scored a season-high 14 points on Dec. 10, but he was a lonely hero in the third quarter of Homedale High School's boys basketball loss to New Plymouth.

Rupp was the only Trojan to score in a devastating three-point third quarter as the host Pilgrims collected a 70-39 non-conference victory.

Rupp hit one of two free throws and scored a basket in the first eight minutes of the second half. But New Plymouth piled up 17 points to blow the game open behind Jaimie Brown's nine points.

Brown was one of four Pilgrims in double figures. He finished with a game-high 22 points. Jesse Jordan added 15 points, and Micah McMurray chipped in 11. Jeremy Howell added 10 points for New Plymouth, which plays in the 2A Western Idaho Conference.

Homedale trailed 38-19 at halftime after struggling through a six-point second quarter. Garrett Sweet scored eight points all in the first 16 minutes.

HMS wrestlers win league gold again

There's a reason Homedale is mad about wrestling. The town has one of the strongest developmental systems in the Treasure Valley.

And the Homedale Middle School wrestling team doesn't just groom athletes to succeed at the high school.

They may be smaller, but the middle school Trojans are no less a force on the mat.

Homedale Middle School won its third consecutive league duals championship last week with a win over McCain Middle School in Payette.

The win over McCain wrapped up the third consecutive unbeaten duals season for the Trojans, who are coached by Toby Johnson — the high school coach.

It's the second straight Snake River Valley conference title.

More information on the tournament will be available in next week's edition of The Owyhee Avalanche.

Raiders

Melba of the 2A Western Idaho Conference, and teammate Emily Romero chipped in 10.

Rimrock 82, Notus 18

Thursday's 1A WIC matchup in Bruneau was no contest from the opening tip. Rimrock rolled out to a 19-2 lead after eight minutes and backed up the domination by outscoring the Pirates 41-6 in the second half.

Three players reached double figures for Rimrock, which had every player on the roster break into the scoring column.

Robynn Ridley hit seven of nine attempts from within the two-point arc on the way to outscoring Notus on her own with a game-high 19 points.

Emily Chandler scored 18 points, and Simper threw in 15 points.

Melanie Simper racked up 12 assists to go with six defensive rebounds as the Raiders owned a decisive 23-3 edge on the Pirates' backboards.

Alicia Gomez scored 10 points for Notus, and Erica Reyes was the only other Pirate to score, putting in eight points. Notus shot 15 percent from the field (4-for-26).

Rimrock 67

Cole Valley 28

Ridley poured in 18 points, and Simper added 13 as the Raiders buried the host Chargers early in their 1A WIC game last Wednesday. Rimrock was ahead 17-1 after eight minutes, and the Raiders' lead had ballooned to 32-4 by halftime.

The Raiders owned a 16-6 advantage in rebounds on the Chargers' end of the floor.

Shannon Hipwell chipped in nine points, and Kaeloni Roberson added eight points.

Cole Valley was paced by 11 points from Becky Hufford, who missed only once in six field-goal attempts.

Rimrock 74

Liberty Charter 26

Emily Chandler recorded a triple-double, and six scorers reached double figures on Dec. 12 as the visiting Raiders beat up on the Patriots from Nampa, who are in their first season with the 1A WIC.

Chandler fell one steal short of a quadruple-double. She had 10 rebounds — nine on the Raiders' own backboards — 10 assists and 12 points.

Thomas scored 17 points for the Raiders, who held Liberty Charter to a pair of points in both the first and fourth quarters. Rimrock was ahead 19-2 after the first quarter and finished the game with a 23-2 sprint through the final period.

Roberson and Emily Chandler added 12 points each, while Hipwell chipped in 11. Ridley and Simper scored 10 points apiece.

Jessica Ellis scored 10 points and grabbed nine rebounds to stand out for Liberty Charter.

Homedale def. Vallivue

The ghosts of the Trojans program were out in full force Thursday in the dual-meet season opener against non-conference foe Vallivue.

But Johnson discovered friendly spirits in beating the Falcons in Caldwell.

"The last time we wrestled Vallivue in a dual, it was the season opener in the 1997-98 season," Johnson said.

"It was my first year as head coach and we lost 24-42.

"This result was significantly better."

That might be an understatement. Homedale won all but three of the matches contested. The Trojans had to forfeit at 112 pounds, but won three of the next four matches to take control.

Cortinas won the heavyweight bout by pinning defending 4A state champion Jake Rodriguez in the second round. Rodriguez is the nephew of former three-time state champ Rudy Rodriguez, a graduate of Homedale High School, and a member of the Trojans team that finished second in the 1A-2A team tournament in 1982.

He started his high school career wrestling at Marsing.

Ensley won his 119-pound match by pinfall and Miyasako was a winner by pin at 130.

Only two of the Trojans' wrestlers had to go the distance in their bouts — Joe Mac Hernandez at 135 and Maxwell at 160 (both won) — as Christoffersen (145), Martinat (152) and Josh Jolley (215) all put their opponents on the mat for pins.

Marsing JV B girls off to rough start in 2A WIC

Marsing High School's junior varsity B girls basketball team has started the 2A Western Idaho Conference season with three straight losses.

The latest setback came Saturday as Nampa Christian held off the Huskies in a 30-27 loss in Nampa.

Kaya Stahle scored 10 of her team-high 11 points in the fourth quarter, but Marsing couldn't complete a comeback.

The Huskies trailed by 10 points, 23-13, heading into the final period, and Stahle hit a 3-point goal and converted six of her 10 free throws in the quarter in an effort to keep Marsing afloat.

The Huskies were hampered by a two-point second quarter. Bianca Mascorro scored Marsing's only field goal in the final eight minutes of the first half.

Melba 34, Marsing 20

Elly Collett scored seven of her team-high nine points in the third quarter, but the Huskies couldn't find much offense elsewhere in a conference loss to visiting Melba.

Stahle scored four points in the first half, but the Mustangs steadily pulled away throughout the game.

Freshman Michelle Kirkness poured in 16 points for the Mustangs, including half of her team's points as Melba built a 16-9 halftime lead.

Katie Brinkerhoff added another eight points, all in the first half for Melba, whose JV B team is comprised solely of ninth-graders.

Parma 25, Marsing 13

Marsing posted a shutout in the fourth quarter on Dec. 8, but the Huskies were unable to ignite their offense in a conference loss to Parma.

The game in Marsing was the 2A Western Idaho Conference season opener for both teams.

The Panthers scored 13 points in the second quarter to take control of the game with an 18-5 halftime edge. Yesinia Avalon, a 5-foot-8 freshman, scored half of her game-high eight points in the second quarter for Parma.

In the third quarter, the Huskies were limited to just a field goal by freshman Elly Collett. Collett led Marsing's scoring with six points.

But in the fourth quarter, Marsing scored six points while blanking Parma.

Sophomore Amy Beagley grabbed seven rebounds for the Huskies, while freshman Catriona Rost chipped in with six.

girls who finally got to show people what they had."

Mustangs suffer first loss of season in girls hoops

by Michelle Elsner and Jake Adams, JVHS

After a long trip in snowy conditions, the Jordan Valley High School girls basketball team suffered its first loss of the season, 54-51, on Friday night in the Mustangs' Old Oregon League opener against Joseph.

The Mustangs started game head-to-head with Joseph. Each team played good defense as the first quarter ended with the Eagles clinging to an 8-7 lead.

The Mustangs crept ahead for a 22-21 lead at halftime.

"It was a great defensive effort by both teams," Jordan Valley coach Jeremy Chamberlain said. "We just needed to eliminate some turnovers at the beginning of the game and make our free throws. We had a few chances at the end of the game to lead, but couldn't pull it out."

Lauren Cuvelier crushed Joseph's defense with 23 points, 10 rebounds, including seven on the Eagles' glass, and four steals.

Bailey Kershner aided the Mustangs with seven points, six offensive rebounds, five defensive rebounds, and seven assists. Breann Hipwell had two points, one defensive rebound, and two steals.

Michelle Elsner had seven points, including a 3-point shot, and two defensive rebounds.

Angela Larsen had eight points, six rebounds and a steal.

Megan Mackenzie had three rebounds, and one steal. Cassia Trautman had four points, four offensive rebounds and five blocked shots.

With Joseph having experience with playing 2A schools, the Eagles' game plan was a little different than the Mustangs. But when Joseph brought on its press shortly before halftime, the Mustangs hung in and grabbed the lead.

JV 67, Imbler 55

The Mustangs had an excellent game against Imbler, working and playing hard for another victory.

Cuvelier led the team with 25 points, followed by Bailey Kershner with 14, and Angela Larsen and Megan Mackenzie rounded out the top four with eight points each.

The Mustangs owned the lead most of the first half, before the Panthers got into the locker room with the score deadlocked 31-31.

"The team caught up and was leading after half time, the use of fast pass down court was used more often," said Larsen, a junior.

The Mustangs resume the season Dec. 29-30 in the Marsing Holiday Classic.

JV, Crane split

Jordan Valley traveled to Crane on Thursday for two JV games.

Jordan Valley trampled Crane 32-21 in the first game, but lost 36-27 in the second.

For the first game, Catie Kershner, Kayla Cuvelier, Nickie Naegle, Shantel Gleason, and Luisa Lowry started. Cuvelier was top scorer with 12 points. Naegle followed with eight points. Kershner had six, Lowry had three, Gleason had two, and Sequoi Trautman followed up with one.

"It was a really fun game, a lot of the younger players were able to get in more experience, and it was a good for learning," Gleason said.

Crane visits Jordan Valley on Jan. 19.

In the second game, Athena Beckwith, Kelsey Prescott, Chelicy Payne, Elisa Eiguren, and Jessie White were the starters. Payne and Eiguren were the top scorers, each with seven points. Beckwith and White contributed four apiece. Prescott had three and Beth Dowell kicked in two points.

Joseph 56, JV 35

The Mustangs put forth a good effort against Joseph, and Catie Kershner thrilled the JV faithful with a half-court basket at the buzzer to end the third quarter.

Kayla Cuvelier scored 10 points for the Mustangs, while White scored two points, Elisa Eiguren added six points, Luisa Lowry and Athena Beckwith five each and Kelsey Prescott four.

"It definitely wasn't our best game," JV player Annie Mackenzie said. "After the long bus trip and everyone being sick, we just didn't have the hustle we needed."

JV 44, Imbler 41

Prescott scored 12 points in the Mustangs' close win.

Elisa Eiguren added 10 points, followed by Cuvelier with seven and White with five.

"The team played excellent defense, making the offense skills more skilled," Eiguren said. "We struggled in the first half, and then stepped it up."
